Emilia Jamroziak is Professor of Medieval Religious History at the University of Leeds. Her research interests focus on the interactions between religious institutions, especially Cistercian monasteries and the laity from the twelfth to the early sixteenth century – in Britain, Central Europe, and the Baltic. She is a graduate of Medieval Studies at the CEU (MA 96) and has worked previously at the Universities of Southampton, London and Edinburgh. She published three monographs: Rievaulx abbey and its social context 1132-1300: memory, locality and networks (2005), Survival and Success on Medieval Borders: Cistercian Houses in Medieval Scotland and Pomerania from the Twelfth to Late Fourteenth Century (2011) and The Cistercian Order in Medieval Europe 1090-1500 (2013) as well as two co-edited volumes: Religious and Laity in Northern Europe 1000-1400: Interaction, Negotiation, and Power with J.E. Burton (2007) and Monasteries on the Borders of Medieval Europe: Conflict and Cultural Interaction with K. Stöber (2013).
